

Give us 20 minutes and we'll save you up to 20 percent on your document costs.

Having recently added Xerox color to your office, you already know the effect it has on the readability and impact of your documents. Now see what a no-charge document assessment can do for the efficiency of your office—and your bottom line. Let us show you how you can save up to 20 percent with these three simple steps:

Step 1

Give us 20 minutes—Together we'll select the appropriate document assessment for your business.

Step 2

Get the facts—We'll collect your organization's specific print usage patterns, costs and areas of opportunity.

Step 3

See how you can save—You'll receive a detailed report showing you how to save 20 percent on your document costs.

Isn't saving 20 percent on your document costs worth 20 minutes of your time? And if a new device is your best solution, take advantage of the double trade-in value on all competitive equipment. The no-charge document assessment—valued at $500—is a fast and easy way to cut costs around the office.

Contact me to schedule your no-charge document assessment before September 30, 2008.
